

continuous input

token input

Curves below the dashed line generalize beyond the training distribution. Continuous input does; token input does not.

*the best predictor using only maps seen in training.