

Output held identical across arms, total trajectories at 32000, so only the input changes.

m^* is the half-drop point of new-task implied-map RMS. Continuous input is not the fine-binning limit: a bin embedding is a lookup table with no notion that neighbouring bins are near, so finer bins need MORE tasks.